The house has acted as a similar bill. Regulation of commodity markets as approved by the house is in line with the administration's efforts to throw more safeguards around the investing public. The measure, which must be acted on by the sente, follows the general pattern of the security exchange control bill already passed by both, houses.

House action on the deficiency appropriation bill added to Roosevelt's already unprecedented rowers by placing at his disposal billions which may or may not be needed in the furthering of the administration's relief

BOY'S MOCK PISTOL GIVES FATAL SHOCK TO HORROR WRITER

PARIS, June 4 .- (P)-Thousands of persons have been thrilled and terrified by the mystery books and plays of Gabriel Bernard.

At the Grang Guignol theater—which specializes in dramas of terror—M. Bernard has been acclaimed as an expert in the art of imparting vicarious horrors to audiences.

Not only in Paris has his imagination chilled theater-goers—Buenos Aires and other Latin American capitals as well have been thrilled by his works.

itals as well have been thrilled by his works.

Yesterday a boy in the street suddenly shoved a paint brush spaked in iodine under his nose. M. Bernard apparently mistook it for a revolver.

He fainted, collapsing on the sidewalk. In the evening, at a hospital, he died.

THE CURSE OF THE AGES

Has This Great Problem of the Human Race at Last Been Solved?

Constipation has for centuries been the curse of civilized man. Millions of men and women in this country are virtual slaves to the laxative habit. Medical authorities agree that old-fashioned purgatives, such as salts, oils and other ordinary laxatives are habit-forming.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills represent a new laxative principle as they are designed to combat constipation and billiousness at their source by stimulating and toning up the bile secreting.— activity of the liver so that it will produce and deliver into the intestinal tract at average of two pints of bile every twenty-four hours, which is the amount required by nature in the amount require Constination has for centuries been, activity of the liver so that it will

Little Joseph, 15 weeks old, seemed to relish his "recognition" today.

Dr. Potter finished his sermon and called the parents to the front of the hall. The God-parents, called "sponsors" by the humanists, also stepped forward with the God-father carrying the baby.

"It was once thought necessary." said Dr. Potter, "that new-born children should have their sins washed away by baptism. We of the humanist movement are inclined to consider that theological idea as untrue and inadequate. We use no baptismal if they would raise their child to become a good citizen, "physically strong, mentally alert and socially responsible." They said they would. "Ladies in Cheesecloth'
Bears Republican Label
WASHINGTON, June 4.—(P)—
The painting that Dr. Rexford G.
Tugwell calls "Ladies in Cheesecloth" has a new bronze plate making clear that a republican administration ordered it for the wall of the agriculture department.

The work, a Gilbert white mural in pastoral vein, features buxom goddesses with sheaves of grain and such things. Tugwell, whose tastes run more to realism and modernity, took a look at it and dubbed it "Ladies in Cheesecloth."

Now a plate has been atta-hed, bearing the decisive inscription:
"Approved 1932—Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, Henry
M. Hyde, secretary of agriculeure."

There was no official explanation to indicate whether this was intended to show that White's work has the republican vote or that new

The supreme court ruling was in answer to Ring's appeal from a 60-day jail term and a $300 fine to which he was sentenced in the Allegan county circuit court last year following his conviction on a charge of indecent exposure growing out of his operation of the nudist camp last summer.

News Behind the News

CONGRESS WASHINGTON, June 4.—The existing confusion in congress is not just ordinary congressional con-fusion. It was started for a purpose.

Most of it can be traced to a well-organized inside campaign to defeat the Wagner labor board bill and the home mortgage bill That seems to be the real explanation for the recent republican filibuster in the house, although it is being warmly denied.

Two very influential lobbies started out to kill these bills some weeks ago. . Instead of issuing statements and conducting the usual lobbying campaign, these two went to work on the sly with certain congressmen to create a situation whereby those two measures would be dropped until next session.

ORGANIZERS The campaign against the labor bill is being led by an association of manufacturers and the congressmen with whom they deal. The strategy against the home mortgage bill is being planned by certain congressmen supposed to be privately connected with building and loan associations.

The democratic leaders know what is going on, but they are not altogether unsympathetic with the campaign. At least they are not personally strong for the two bills.

selves that the future of those two measures was up to him. will do nothing until they get orders from the White House.

If they had their own way, they would wind up the session June 9 and toss both bills in the waste basket. They probably will not have their way.

While President Roosevelt was away, they agreed among them-

GRAVY The fact that Mr. Roosevelt is considering putting his ace administrator, Harry Hopkins, in charge of the mortgage set-up shows what important use the White House hopes to make of it. It probably will be ballyhooed even more than the NRA was.

The man, who wrote the bill for the administration is Winfield Riefler, of the central statistical board. He is not a brain truster or a college professor, but, until recently, was an economic adviser for the federal reserve board. Working through several senators. Frank Walker's outfit believes it has fixed everything so the mortgage bill will get through the senate. They are having trouble again with Chairman Steagall. of the house banking committee. He does not play ball closely with the administration and no one knows what he will do next,

There is no question but what the quiet congressional resist ance to the mortgage bill is sincere. No one can deny that the bill would encourage home owners to go into debt for renovizing and new home construction

One republican leader went around the floor of the house the other day advising all his friends to get "some of the mortgage gravy for yourselves if this bill goes through."

LEAK The AAA and the press have started a little private feud. When the sugar allotment figures were announced the other day, newsmen were gathered into a room for a conference. An arrangement was made so the news would not be sent out until the conference was over and the matter thoroughly explained.

The conference lasted about half an hour, but when the newsmen dashed to their wires, they found the figures were out in the financial district in New York and actually had reached Cuba.

It was found that some one in the AAA had leaked the figures to representatives of sugar concerns who spread it broadcast, scoop ing the press by half an hour or more.

WAR DEBTS All politicians privately admired Mr. Roosevelt's war debt message. It was so shrewd a handling of a dangerous political issue that even the republicans in both houses of congress had to express approval of it. On the other hand, the private comment on Mr. Roosevelt's Gettysburg speech was rather caustic. The general opinion was that it was unclear, political and probably the worst he has made RADIO The movement to impose further regulations on radio is not getting anywhere, because the administration privately is opposed.

It passed word down the line to kill the proposed amendment the communications bill requiring radio to give 25 per cent of its time to educational and religious subjects. The idea smacks too much of censorship.

Vice President Garner continues to be more influential in the backstage maneuvering over legislation than any vice president has been before. He even lent a hand in the ousting of Professor Thorp.

Mr. Roosevelt felt badly about letting Dr. Thorp go and has made arrangements to get him a private job which is better than the one he left as head of the bureau of foreign and domestic com-

Assistant State Secretary Sayre worked closely with Senator Walsh to get him to come out for the administration tariff bill. His conversion brought hosannas from the administration inner circle because Walsh comes from a strong tariff state.

Jerome Frank, of the AAA, called in newsmen the other day and asked them what was wrong with the proposed administrative amendments to the agricultural adjustment act. They told him and he rewrote the amendments in accordance with their suggestions.

An Offended Cook May Change Masters, But The Job of Cooking Goes on Forever

-By Robert Quillen -In a certain land far away, a combination of folly and greed caused a period of hard times and the people began to clamor for a new form government.

It was a marshy land, requiring much ditching, and the ditch-dig-gers were trained from childhood to handle a spade. They were strong men, with large corns on their hands, and while they envied the easy life of the rich, they despised the elegant softies

One day a white-faced man with long hair and a gift of gab came among them and said: "What fools you are to sweat under the sun and bend your weary backs at menial toil while other men wear white collars and ride in fine cars. Why do you endure these hard times in stupid silence? Demand your rights. Pull down your fat masters and claim your share of the earth's riches. Follow me and become free men.'

So the ditch-diggers joined the revolution and the government was overthrown and the long-haired orator formed a new organization to The burden of responsibility was heavy on his shoulders and he lay awake at night trying to pick out the right men to do the nation's work.

The ditch-diggers quit their jobs and dressed in their Sunday clothes nd met in a park to celebrate their new freedom. Some dreamed of loot and many dreamed of power, but all alike saw visions of wealth and How grand it would be to wear a silk hat and smoke six-bit

While they listened to their orators praising the new regime, the long-haired orator appeared in a swell limousine followed by soldiers in armored cars.

"Hail, liberator!" cried the ditch-diggers. "We are ready for our reward. What shall we do now?' The long-haired one glared at them.

"Why, you infernal half-wits," he roared, "the ditches are filling up. Get busy with your spades." Then he turned to an officer and said: Shoot the first one you catch loafing."

Corbino told his distinguished audience, which included King Victor Emmanuel, that "the study of the nucleus, now in its beginning, aims at the ambitious plan of giving back to the carth the youthfulness of its materials." "We can now affirm," he declared, "this ambitious design has been converted into reality."

Fermi's discovery, he added, "is in effect a manifestation of new youth communicated by nuclear collision to old established material."

ROOSEVELT ASKS TIME Farmers Crowd County Agent's Office As Cotton Reduction Checks Are Paid

"A lot easier than plowing," these Fulton farmers are thinking, as they receive checks for cotton they didn't plant this year. N. B. Nix, of Alpharetta, is shown receiving part of his 1934 government cotton-reduction payment from S. D. Truitt, Fulton county agricultural agent. Crowding around are a part of the 1,142 Fulton county farmers being paid off this week.

Checks totaling $55,000 are being acres of land at an average price of delivered to Fulton county farmers, covering one-half of the federal government's rental payments for 1934 cotton reduction. About 800 farmers received the first installment of their pay Monday from S. D. Truitt, Fulton county agricultural agent, and the remainder will be delivered during the week. The checks number 1,142 in all and range from $5. the smallest, to $1.500, the largest one paid.

The payments cover rental for 9,800

They understand, however, that in consequence of recent legislation no such declaration would be possible, and if this be the case the procedure adopted by common agreement in 1933 is no longer practicable.

Two Alternatives.

8. His majesty's government are in fact faced with choice between only two alternatives, viz.. to pay in full the sum of $262,000,000 as set forth in the communication from the United States treasury, dated May 25, or to suspend all interim payments pending a final revision of the settlement, which has been delayed by events beyond the control of the two governments.

If this were done sterling would not be affected by the payments to America, but the burden would be the control of the country. The note said that while the British deferred payment until "it be-comes possible to discuss an ultimate settlement of inter-governmental war debts with a reasonable prospect of agreement," the British government thrown on the currencies of the European debtor countries, thereby aggravating the present crisis, which it is the object of both the United States and his majesty's government to alleviate. has no intention of repudiating its ob ligations and is prepared to enter into a discussion of the war debts question whenever President Roosevelt feels to alleviate.

5. Thus the question of the British war debt is only a part of the wider question of inter-governmental. such a conference would produce re-sults of value.

First Default in History.

In official quarters here, the opinion was expressed that this was the first time in the history of the British empire when that government had defaulted on obligations owed to another nation.

The British note pointed out that Great Britain had made large loans to many other nations, and that in respect of reparations.

These intergovernmental debts, 2s stated in the British note of December 1, 1931, are radically different from commercial loans raised by foreign governments on the markets for productive purposes.

War debts are neither productive to many other nations and that in paying the United States nearly half of their original loan it already had paid all it had received from other nanor self-liquidating, and the unnatural transfers required for their payment would involve a general collapse of normal international exchange and paid all it had received from other nations as well as considerable sums from their own resources.

Great Britain, because of the world crisis, the note added, has suspended all demands on its debtors until a general revision of inter-governmental debts can be effected in the interest of world recovery. The note said the improvement that has taken place in the British budgetary situation was the British budgetary situation wa due to unprecedented sacrifices by the ments in 1901 in order to avert an immediate collapse.

But the moratorium of 1931 caused another change in the situation; it made any resumption of the pre-existing reparation and war debt setdue to unprecedented sacrifices by the British people.

Heavy Tax Burden.

"For 15 years, the note said, "they (the British people) have been paying taxation on a scale for which it would be hard to find a parallel elsewhere This taxation amounting to close to one-quarter of the national income has aggravated the depression over a long period and constituted a formidable

After this exchange of notes his majesty's government paid the instalment due on December 15, 1932, in gold, explaining that this payment was not to be regarded as a resumption of the annual payments contemplated by the existing agreement, and plated by the existing agreement, and that it was made because there had not been time for discussion with regard to that agreement to take place. The original debt was $4,217,000,000. In accordance with the arrangement then made, discussions took place first in the spring and later in the autumn Britain also pointed out that while she had borrowed $4.277,000,000 and had paid back over two billions the other European nations had borrowed $5.773,000,000 and had paid but $678,in the spring and later in the autumn of last year between representatives of the two countries, and his majesty's ic manner in which their representa-tives were listened to. 7. In their note of November 6 last, his majesty's government expressed their readiness to resume negotiations on the general question whenever, after consultation with the president, it might appear that this could usefully be done, and his majesty's government are glad to note that the president in his message to converge stances which have forced them to take such a decision, his majesty's government feel that they could not assume the responsibility of adopting president in his message to congress on June 1 has again stated that each of the debtor governments concerned has full and free opportunity to discuss this problem with the government of the United States.

But unfortunately recent events assume the responsibility of adopting a course which would revive the whole system of inter-governmental war debt payments.

As already pointed out the resumption of full payments to the United States would necessitate a corresponding demand by his majesty's government from their own war debtors.

It would be a re-creation of the conditions which existed prior to the world crisis and were in a large measurement. But unfortunately recent events have shown that discussions on the whole question with a view to a final settlement cannot at present usefully be renewed.

In these circumstances his majesty's government would have been quite prepared to make a further payment on June 15 in acknowledgement of the debt and without prejudice to their right again to present the cause of its readjustment, on the assumption that they would again have received the president's declaration that he would not consider them in default. world crisis and were in a large measure responsible for it.

Such procedure would throw a bombshell into the European area which would have financial and eco-

Taking Only Course.

9. Accordingly his majesty's government are reluctantly compelled to take the only other course open to them.

But they wish to reiterate that, while suspending further payments until it becomes possible to discuss an ultimate settlement of inter-governmental war debts with a reasonable prospect of agreement, they have no intention of repudiating their obligations, and will be prepared to enter upon further discussion of the subject at any time when in the opinion of the president such discussion would be likely to produce results of value. Before the coming of the whites, Fijians made fire by rubbing wood against wood; and it was rather hard work. That was a reason for wanting to keep a fire burning after it was started; and in addition the flames may have seemed magical to these children of nature.

The chief Fiji god is known as "Ndengei," and he is pictured as a huge serpent. He is supposed to have created the earth, and to have made the first people. A native who believes in the old religion might speak these words to us: oints to the age-old idea of fire

Efforts to convert the natives to the Christian faith have been largely successful. An early missionary reported that they were most willing to give up their old faith after suffering from illness, accident, or some other event which made them afraid. Another minister tells of the way one native tried to place the serpent god in the Christian faith.

"Ndengel," said the native, "is another name for Satan. Once he claimed to be as powerful as Jehovah. They had a dispte as to which could make men. Jehovah could make men that moved, but Ndengel could not."

Delicious Cereal Promotes Regular Habits

The right kinds of foods form the very basis of health. You need nourishment for strength and energy. And you need "bulk" to prevent common constipation. Otherwise, this ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. You can correct it, usually, by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds generous "bulk" to your daily menu. erous "bulk" to your daily menu. Tests show this "bulk" is similar to that found in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of vitamin B and iron. Isn't it safer—and pleasanter— to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will overcome most types of common constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all." Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into fluffy muffins and breads.

Remember, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IT'S UP TO THE WOMEN

XIV-Today's Challenge to Women. Practically every woman, whether she is rich or poor, is facing today a reduction in income. Sometimes I think the most troubled people I know are the very rich, especially many of them who have grown up in idle luxury. They have never known what it was to deny themselves anything that they really wanted, and now they have to learn to do it cheerfully and without a feeling of martyrdom.

Their fathers and husbands have always been able to give them not only what they needed, but many pleasant things which seemed necessary to those who had really nothing to do, and who therefore felt they must have many luxuries in order to provide variety in what would otherwise be very dull existences.

If a maid has always answered a bell when you rang, if you have never sewed except to give your idle hands some occupation, it is somewhat disconcerting to find that you have to wait on yourself and that you sewing must serve some useful purpose such as mending a frock or darning your stockings.

I have a theory that the people who have had a great deal and who have the right kind of stuff in them, are

I have a theory that the people who have had a great deal and who have the right kind of stuff in them, are the ones who most readily adjust themselves to doing without certain material things. This theory, however, only holds good where the people have had sometime in their lives an opportunity to live simply so that they have made the discovery that the luxuries of life are not really essential to happiness.

These women who have lived in this luxurious fashion, and who do not have back of them at least the traditions of early ancestors who had education and some appreciation of the value of mental qualities, and yet who disciplined themselves and were inured to hardships, are frightened today and are making their husbands and fathers feel that because they have lost the ability to give them as much materially, they have ceased to

Crackers Show Plenty of Fight in Winning Third Game, 6-4

Brillheart Shines | Especially Around One of His Eyes!

What delightful news about those Crackers! A lot of fisticuffing right in the other fellow's backyard! Of all places to start a battle! Only the game fish swims up stream and only the game guy starts battles in the other fellow's backvard

I am a peaceful man and inclined toward peaceful pursuits. But this latest drive by the Crackers has me doing a little shadow boxing and rope-skipping. I may meet one of those Vols myself. I'm also practicing a lot of ducking.

And while I know that fighting is low and vulgar and that we should all be nice little boys and girls-well, now, honest, deep down in your heart doesn't that shiner that J. Benson Brillheart is wearing do your old heart good? (He's the fellow that beat us twice Sunday.) I mean I'm sorry about it. It pains me that our Crackers should so lower themselves as to indulge in brutal fighting. But, come closer. (Wasn't it perfectly swell about that shiner?) I hope that Mr. Spencer Abbott will spank all his boys and put them to bed without any supper. But, listen, come around the corner. I want to tell you something. Some people love a parade. I love a baseball

It looks like the old baseball days are coming back. They should pay J. Benson Brillheart a good bonus for that eye. It will be worth $1,000 in new customers at the Vols' baseball store today.

Of course it was all the fault of those uncouth Vols. Our noble lads would never have engaged in such a low thing as a public brawl without being goaded to desperation.

I suppose Mr. Brillheart forgot to smile. He should have read that splendid book, "The Virginian."

Does anyone know a good boxing coach we can send to join our lads?

He is hitting just .271 and has nothing remarkable in his record. This is most encouraging if things work out as they should.

The usual custom is for the Crackers to sign a player who has burned up the league in which he played before coming to Georgia. Once he reaches Atlanta his .350 batting average

Ed Taylor, therefore, should immediately begin to bat .370 and burn up the league. He is the first player we have purchased who did not have a great record.

THE VOLS AND THEIR PALS, THE JINTS.

Baseball has become so much of a great business that it is organized in every detail. It is very difficult and costly for an independent minor league club to go out and find a player without any strings tied to him. And buying him becomes very

The big league scouts have signed dozens of kids in high school, paying for their education until they are ready to go into baseball.

I pass this on to any father whose youngster is good enough. Understand he must be unusually good. If the scouts cluster about him it is possible to do business. They will, if you insist, finance the kid through school in return for his contract. But you will have to resist some high-pressure arguments that education, after all, is nothing as compared with a baseball ca-

A club setting out to buy a couple of outfielders such as Weintraub and Leiber would probably find none on the market. If they were discovered the cost would likely be prohibitive.

A baseball bat is a very handy weapon. I notice where the recent strikers at Toledo used them most effectively.

But your baseball players give themselves away.
They are not really angry when they battle. Because with all the bats laying about not once in baseball history has a player bounced one off the skull of another player.

Bill Dickey, the Yankee catcher, broke Carl Reynolds' jaw a year or so ago. He used his fist. But it was discovered that the fellow had a very brittle jaw.

It was something like the old story of the Irishman's skull at a St. Patrick's Day party. It was proved that the man had what the medical men call "a paper skull."

"And what," asked the offender, much agrieved, "is a man like that doing at a St. Patrick's Day party?"

Mr. Reynolds should never have gone to the party.
But most baseball fights, despite all the murderous weapons at hand, are not worth a dime a dozen.

ROSS HONORED

Governor and Mayor Welcome Conquering Hero of Ring.

Rasofsky always said her boy, Barney, would be a great man some day.

Today, her dream came true, as Barney Ross came home to receive one of the most tumultuous welcomes in Chicago's history. He came home not just a world's boxing champion, but as a triple title holder, to be greeted by Governor Henry M. Horner, Mayor Edward J. Kelly and the multitudes. Down through a lane of good Irish policemen Mama Rasofsky's son rode in triumph.

CROWD AT STATION.

More than 3,000 persons gathered in the train shed at the Union station, overflowed into the lobby and out in the plaza. To greet the 24-year-old Jewish lad, who a week ago tonight conquered Jimmy McLarmi in New York, becoming the first boxer to hold both the lightweight and the welterweight championships of the world simultaneously. In addition he also is junior welterweight title holder.

A 30-piece band blazed away, sirens of escorting police cars shrieked, and Barney Ross was perched on the tonneau of an open automobile, to head a parade that took him to city hall. There Mayor Edward J. Kelly and political leaders awaited to shake the hand of the dapper, personable young Ross, and extended to him greetings that brought tears to his eyes. More than a thousand jammed the entrance of the city hall and the mayor's ofthat brought tears to his eyes. While Harry Mehre, Georgia's head coach, interviewed two Notre Dame football players at Notre Dame yesterday and planned to see another one in Chicago today with a view to filling the line coach vacancy at Georgia, another coaching report came out of the east.

Hartford reported that John (Clipper) Smith, 1933 coach at North Carolina State, had been approached with the job.

H. J. Stegeman, director of athletics at Georgia, was out of the city at Athens and it was not possible to obtain any denial or confirmation from university athletic officials.

BaffLING.
Baer's condition has the experts, as well as Doyle, somewhat baffled. The big Californian has worked so poorly in training against two huge negroes, Ciel' Harris and Dynamite Jackson, that another trainer, Dolph Jackson, that another trainer, Dolph Thomas, was called to Asbury Park, N. J.. from San Francisco and now Jack Dempsey has taken charge.

A full year's idleness, with motion picture efforts, night club activities and plenty of two-fisted funmaking, apparently have dulled the magnificent fighting edge of the wolf man who gobbled up Schmeling. A YEAR AGO.

A year ago, after Baer knocked out Max Schmeling with a thunderous punching display and Carnera popped Jack Sharkey out in six rounds, Max probably would have entered the ring against the Italian monster a 3-to-1 favorite. It would have been an even money wager that the duel would attract $600,000 worth of customers. Now those close to box office windows seem to think that the interest stolen by Ross and McLarnin, the diminution of Bæer's stature as a title challenger, the short proiod in between the first two big open air shows, all will shave the receipts to about half that.

They are light-heavies.

540 shares. It was the scantiest business in stocks the exchange had done since June 2, 1924. The turnover then was 305,600 shares.

Rains in some drouth areas, improvement in the labor situation and resistance the market showed as it

In the absence of selling pressure.

In the absence of selling pressure, prices rallied easily. The market was unusually thin in many issues and several widely separated bid and asked prices were quoted on the ticker tape.

Gains of fractions to 3 points were recorded for such issues as Allied Chemical. American Can. Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe. Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel and American Telephone.

Rains in Nebraska and elsewhere stimulated short-covering and some outside buying in J. I. Case, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck and other shares dependent upon farmer-purchasing power.

Wheat finished 1 1-4 to 1 7-8 cents a bushel lower. The July position at Chicago dropped as low as 96 cents, more than 10 cents under last week's top, but Wall Street figured rains would improve the farmer's position. would improve the farmer's position more than the price reduction would more than the price reduction would impair it.

Corn, oats and rye suffered further losses of 1 to 2 cents a bushel.

Other actively traded staples were mixed. Cotton reacted, closing 60 to 65 cents a bale lower. Hides steadied on belief rain in the farm belt would check movement of cattle to market. Silver futures firmed.

Aside from an easier tone in United States government bonds following announcement of new treasury offerings, a further decline in the British pound against the dollar drew attention in financial markets. Sterling fell below $5.04, off more than 2 cents, to the lowest quotation since last Febryary.

Price Average Lifted.

The rally raised the average price of 90 stocks to 75.4, up 1.2 points from the 1934 low established Saturday.

Speculation continued dormant. Speculation continued dormant. The mixed picture presented by trade and political news confused traders. The American Iron & Steel Institute estimated operations of the industry had risen to 57.4 per cent of capacity, the highest since it began compiling its figures last October, and a gain of 1.3 points over a week ago.

The market paid little attention to the rise in the steel rate, however, attributing it to buying for inventory in anticipation of a possible steel strike and for completion of contracts made before the recent increase in steel prices.

industrial rayon and other textile shares made only a mild response to the passing of a strike threat in the industry. Electric Autolite rallied more than a point on reports the strike in its Toledo plant virtually had been settled. Silver shares did better than the rest of the market, United States Smelting & Refining closing 3 points higher.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP)—A more favorable view of weather conditions in the southwest combined with relafavorable view of weather conditions in the southwest combined with relatively easy Liverpool cables were reflected by considerable realizing or liquidation in cotton today. October contracts after selling off 10.85 early rallied to 10.95 on covering but failed to hold and closed at 11.86. The general market closed steady at net declines of 12 to 13 points.

The opening was barely steady at declines of 8 to 11 points in response to the lower Liverpool cables, reports of partial break in the wheat belt drouth and scattered showers in the seining through nouses with foreign connections as well as scattered realizing and liquidation.

Offerings became a little more active following the opening decline in wheat with the market selling off to 11.63 for July and 11.97 for December during the first half hour or about 13 to 15 points net lower. This pressure subsided after the close of Liverpool and prices rallied partially during the middle of the day. There was a continued absence of selling pressure from the south.

After showing recoveries of 9 or 10 points from the lowest, which carried July up to 11.73 and October to 12.06, prices sagged off in a comparatively quiet afternoon market. Closing quotations were within a point or two on active positions. July liquidation was more or less in evidence during the day with considerable witching the later deliveries. COTTON IN NEW ORLEANS There was only a moderate volume of trading in cotton today and prices fluctuated frequently but showed a slight downward tendency after midsession. The close was within 1 point of the bottom being called steady and showing net losses for the day of 10 to 11 points.

Market Outlook MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK. June 4.—(UP)—
Prospects for a lively stock market continued slim tonight.
Adjournment of congress still is in the balance. Traders feel no activity can be started until congressmen go home.
There was a definite optimism in Wall Street during the day. Some favorable trade statistics came in. Keen observers of stock market operations, particularly foreigners, felt there was every likelihood of a rising stock market.

ing stock market.
TRADING DULL.

Yet traders preferred not to enter the market until all chances of legislation are removed. Trading again touched a new 10-year low level, totaling only 360,000 shares and this in a market that saw rising prices, with inflation stocks—such as gold and silver mining shares—showing the best gains.

and silver mining shares—showing the best gains.

There were a number of curious developments in the financial district. One was the recurrence of inflation talk. Several sources indicated belief gold prices will be elevated after congress adjourns. This stirred mining issues.

At the same time sterling dropped sharply in the foreign exchange market. This drop accompanied the same inflationary reports — utterly without confirmation.

TRADE NEWS.

Trade news included:

Steel production, according to the American Iron & Steel Institute, is at 57.4 per cent, up 1.3 per cent from the previous week and a new high since the institute started compiling the weekly figures. Much of the increased production is an insurence by some consumers against strike possibilities later.

Some retail lines are improving. Chain stores show a generally good report. The confection industry is showing improvement. Carloadings appear seasonal.

Some groups look bearishly at liquor profits pointing out purchases have not come up to expectations and that quarterly reports may not be so cheerful as were those in the first quarter.

Some brokers reported they had "buy" orders on a "when congress adjourns" basis, giving hope for a rising market in the future but adding continual uncertainty for the picture for the next week or 10 days.

By VICTOR EUBANK. NEW YORK, June 4-(47)-The bond market moved sluggishly today and while, here and there, issued displayed a firm tone, price changes, as a whole, were extremely narrow. Transfers totaled only $8,522,000, par value, the smallest volume for a full day in about two weeks, and the advantage for 60 domestic corporate loans was unchanged at 85.5.

Listed United States government securities were not particularly enthused over the treasury's June financing program and the majority were off slightly in a light turnover. Traders in the federals seemed a little disappointed because of the small size of the offering and also because the 3 per cent rate on the new 12-14-year is-sued appeared to be a little too close to the market. The listed 3s ended at 100.22, off 3-32ds of a point.

In some banking quarters the 1. In some banking quarters the second government offerings at low interest rate were seen as a test operation having to do with a later conversion plan for the called Liberty Fourth 414s. Holders of the Liberties, it was thought, would be more inclined to convert in the summer at a much smaller interest rate than wait until October 15, and turn in their bonds at par for cash in view of the probability that the new 3s, will be selling at a premium when the Liberty loan conversion offer is made.

There was little news of immediate importance to corporate issues. Gains of 1 to around 2 points, in restricted trading, were held by American and Foreign Power 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4 1.2s, Chicago & North Western 4 3.4s, Great Northern 7s, New York, Centfal convertible 6s, Nickel Plate 4 1.2s, Warner Bros. 6s, Northern Pacific 6s and Western Pacific 5s. Union Pacific first 4s edged up to a new year's high. Other prime investment loans hovered around their best 1933 prices.

Foreign obligations were quiet and mixed. Bonds of Belgium, Soa Paulo, France and Sweden improved. Those of Dutch East Indies sagged, as did most of those of Germany and Poland. German government 7s dropped 11-2 points to a new year's low, and

moisture to give at least temporary relief from drouth and heat forced a maximum drop of 2 1-4 cents a bushel in wheat values today.

Reports told of heavy rains in parts of the northwest and west, whereas other sections received little. The forecast pointed to likelihood of additional showers throughout practically the entire domestic grain belt.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 1-4 to 1 7-8 under Saturday's finish, corn 1 7-8 to 2 1-4 down, oats 2 to 2 1-4 off, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

seemed to be built to order. It was dealt in a duplicate game, and whether the declarer undertook a contract of four clubs, five clubs or six clubs, he found that his supply of tricks lasted just long enough to fulfill his contract.

Alvan L. Davis, of Waterbury. Conn., recently sent me the hand below, which was played in a tournament for mixed pairs at the University Club of Waterbury. In sending the hand Mr. Davis makes the remark that the board is an exemplification of the Biblical statement that "the last shall be first, and the first shall be last."

There were eight tables in play, and in every case North played the hand at a club contract. At six of hand at a club contract. At six of the eight tables North's contract was five clubs. In one case North and South had reached the ambitious contract of six clubs, while in the remaining case North and South were pessimists and bid but four clubs. In every case, strange as it may seem, the declarer made just the necessary tricks to fulfill his contract, and that against a logical opening lead.

Where the contract was six clubs, East, with an apparent entry in the diamond ace, decided to establish the setting trick by leading the king of spades, and the only loser for the declarer against this opening was the eventual loss of the spade queen, the declarer's losing diamonds being discarded on the hearts in dummy. NEW YORK, June 4—(P)—The government securities market was a little disappointed by the United States treasury's borrowing plans for June 15, announced this morning, for the amount involved was smaller and the coupon rates closer to the market than had been generally hoped for. The market's feeling was recorded in at dip in the premiums on near maturities of notes and certificates. The authorities and August 1 notes exchangeable for the new 3 per cent bonds are expected to notes and certificates. There are a number of things that recommend nursing as a profession to the girl of small means. It is one of the few professions that offer free training with a little pocket change thrown in for good measure. It is certainly an alluring one to the girl whose life is circumscribed by residence in the country or small town. But if she wants to be happy she must not let such considerations betray her into the greedy maw of a hospital unless she has one or more qualifications for the work she must do. These are a natural aptitude for care of the sick, an interest in the scientific things the hospital houses and an unselfish desire to be of service to the sick and suffering.

and an unsellish desire to be of service to the sick and suffering.

If in addition to these she has a keen interest in human nature in the raw, it is so much velvet, for human nature in the hospital is like Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden—stripped. Any girl thinking of being a nurse will find entertaining reading in Mary Roberts Rinehart's story of her hospital experience. She entered training when she was 17 and found in her work everything that a girl would like to find, including a husband. But along with the pleasurable experiences she had the depressing ones of coming face to face with the sick, the sorrowing and the dying. She writes this paragraph:

"Here all the tragedy of the world is gathered under one roof. I had had no preparation for it, nor for the human wreckage I was to encounter. I had had no knowledge whatever of the cruelty, or the brutality, or the starvation. But I served my probationary period of three years, and I ran the course as best I could. By the time I was ready to graduate there was no phase of human life and human suffering which I had not touched. And there was born in me something which has never died, which cannot die; a terrible and often devastating pity and compassion for the weak and the sick and the humble. Those years in the hospital entirely changed my sense of values."

Here, then, is the solemn warning Here, then, is the solemn warning to the girl who wants to be a nurse. Hard work in long hours, intimate association with every sort of sickness of mind, soul and body, the necessity of looking at life from its source to its final conglusion, these are some of the facts that should be faced. But when she has finished the drudgery of her training and when she has of her training and when she has been schooled she is prepared for a life of usefulness that few can enjoy.

A good nurse is an angel of mercy. There is music in the rustle of her stiff-starched skirts. There is healing balm in her fingers. Her presence inspires hope in her patient's heart when despair has gripped it and comforts the loved ones who stand anxiously by the bedside. She enters the sick chamber as a paid employe and remains there as a friend and comorter. She is a buffer between her patient and that world that frets and annoys. Surely this is compensation for the long hard grind of training, for the sacrifice of the gay good times to which the average young girl thinks she has an inalienable right. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Household Arts. By ALICE BROOKS.

Crocheted Medallion Pattern 5156. We, today, may think that the crocheted bedspread done in squares or cheted bedspread done in squares or medallions is something new. It really has been handed down to us by the needlewoman of long ago who also found this type of spread beautiful and durable. Among her favorites were popcorn designs. Here is one, found only in the Alice Brooks pattern, that would have met with her hearty approval. Made entirely of squares, it is quicker to do than most popcorn designs for the popcorns are worked on an open mesh instead of on solid crochet. The effect is a lovely lacy design enriched by the raised popcorns. Besides a bedspread it also makes a lovely cushion and other accessories.

In pattern 5156 you will find de-tailed instructions and material re-quirements for crocheting the medal-lion and joining it to make a variety tensity—the eternal homage she paid to the kitchen sink. In her years of married life Mary had had few new dresses. During the depression, when Joe had taken cut after cut, she had had none. And this morning, as she brushed through her scant wardrobe, she realized that the time had come when she could no longer go to her closet and select a frock which did not bear some memory of the kitchen. She had not mentioned a new dress directly to Joe. Instead, she had casually brought out each of the frocks as he finished dressing, and, half to herself, but loudly enough so that she was sure he heard, gone through the list, rejecting each.

After he had gone Nemone motioned Tarzan to a seat upon the couch. "I am afraid Erot does not like you," she said, smiling. "He is furious that you do not kneel to me, and that I do not compel you to do so. I really do not know myself why I do not, but I can guess why.

"Have you not, perhaps, guessed why, too?" she asked Tarzan softly. "Yes," answered the apeman boldly, "there are two reasons." "What are they?" she purred. "It is the fact that you cannot make me kneel," said Tarzan, looking straight into Nemone's eyes.

A hard look flashed in the Queen's eyes; it was not the answer she had been hoping for. Tarzan's eyes did not leave hers; she saw amusement in them and her own anger melted. "Why do you try to make it so hard for me to be nice to you?" The said almost appealingly.

Finally she had said: "I don't know what I'm going to do, Joe. All of my dresses have been to the cleaner so many times. It's terribly hard to keep them looking new when you're washing dishes." No word of a new dress, but she hoped Joe would take the hint. dress, but the hint.

She was not disappointed. Joe was more silent than usual during break-fast, and afterwards, as she slowly sipped her coffee, he had wandered over to the sink and stood there, smoking thoughtfully. Mary had watched out of the corner of her eye. And as he had kissed her good-by that morn-ing, he had held her arm a little longer than usual, and said: "I'll have a fore noon, to say that he was coming

She was pretty, in a way that suggested a subdued autumn after a vivid gested a subdued autumn after a vivid ecstasy. It was too good to be true. She threw her arms about Joe, who was grinning happily.

Casey coughed again. "Where is he, ma'am?" he said, not unkindly, for a pretty woman in tears had always inthe youth from her eyes and left in its place a sullen frustration. And she was weeping. husband.

Georgia Fields And Streams By H. A. Carter.

Did you know that Georgia has a prototype of the famous kangaroo? Until the other day I thought that the genus zapus—that is to say, the long-tailed jumping mice—extended its range southward in the mountains to western North Carolina. This would make it a transition zone species. make it a transition zone species, which correlates nicely with what I learned in college about mammal and bird distribution. (Ah, how full of innocent bliss were those peaceful days, when what the books said about ne's home state was taken at its face value and even got one a pretty good grade on the final exam!) There are still a number of mammalogists, be assured, who still hold that view, Now I am going to let you all in on a new secret, which immediately re-moves it from the category of secrets. Jumping mice are found in Geor-What I believe to be zapus hudonius was taken at Alpharetta last nonth by L. M. Taylor, who is a keen bird student, a good taxidermist, and incidentally, he finds time to run a arm. One jumping mouse was plowed up and astonished the plower by leaping here and there with prodigious jumps. Knowing that the specimen was of some value (and would that as that) he captured the mouse with great care and gave it to Mr. Taylor. Who the captor was I cannot say. He did a good thing for American mammalogy when he caught that mouse, however, and for that he has my thanks. Mr. Taylor made, so is my thanks. Mr. Taylor made a scientific skin of the specimen and preserved the skull nicely. He told me about it. Being in doubt as to the species I asked him to send it to me and to let me send it on to Harvard for a check on my identification, which he kindly sentential.

which he kindly granted. The specimen should now be in the hands of Dr. Glover M. Allen, at the Museum of Comparative Zoology. It is entirely possible that the specimen represents a new subspecies, or race, of the hudsonian jumping mouse; certainly one would not expect to find the same mouse here that inhabits the great forests of transition zone in northern United States and Can-

The hind legs of the jumping mouse are proportionally as long as those of the kangaroo, and it utilizes them in much the same way. The long tail is much the same way. At any rate the mouse away, naving no control of his line of flight. At any rate the mouse—all three inches of body and four inches of tail—is an important record and as soon as Dr. Allen checks the specimen I will give you the aews.

VIOLATORS WARNED

Heavy Penalties Decreed by Government; Liquor Stamps Will Be Sought.

A new warning of heavy penalties decreed by the government for persons who violate the liquor laws and those who evade processing taxes on farm products was issued Monday by W. E. Page, collector of internal revenue for Georgia.

Mr. Page also announced all cotton in the state must carry bale tags by July 1 under provisions of the Bankhead bill for controlling cotton acreage.

Retail liquor dealers beginning Monday will be searched to see if they have any internal revenue stamps in their possession illegally. Mr. Page said it was believed some dealers in

Mr. Page announced his department had turned over to the department of justice the first recommendation in this state for prosecution of dation in this state for prosecution of a person charged with evading the processing tax on hogs. He said conviction would involve a penalty of five years' imprisonment or a $10.000 fine. The man is charged with killing hogs and failing to pay the processing tax. In order to provide a close check on cotton stocks, bale tags will be furnished ginners. The 1,700 ginners in Georgia will be required to tag each bale ginned to make certain that farmers keep within the allotments given them under provisions of the Bankhead reduction bill.

Cotton on hand also must be tagged to show it was harvested prior to June 1 1934.

Mr. Page announced his office soon would have deputies checking on the tags to see that they are not used a second time. Under the regulations, farmers may break an untagged bale and sell part of it prior to July 1, but after that date all cotton must bear the stipulated tag before being marketed.

MAYOR TO ORDER
DEALERS IN BEER
TO STICK TO 3.2

Mayor James L. Key, at a conference with representatives of Atlanta's beer distributors and dealers at 11 o'clock this morning, will deliver an ultimatum.

He will insist that all engaged in the business of selling the refreshment abide by the city ordinance which prohibits anything stronger than 3.2.

A delegation of distributors and wholesalers Monday made an appointment with the mayor to ascertain the actual status from the official city point of view.

"I shall tell them to stick to 3.2 and let the high-powered beer alone," Mayor Key said. "They can expect mo protection from the city if they deal in anything stronger.

"Only in this way can we convince the federal government of our good faith, and insure a continued supply of 3.2 beer.

"They we stick to what the federal government has declared by law to be non-intoxicating, I do not see how the United States authorities can, in all justice, interfere with our beer supply."

The reduction will be from the level established in an order of April 22 which fixed wage rates by agreement in most districts and by administrative action in the remainder.

Alabama, which had protested against the rates then set, won an almost immediate modification.

Western Kentucky operators went to court and obtained on order staying the higher rates for their district and the case still awaits government appeal.

The basic minimum rates set by to-the senate was uncertain, however, not only because of the press of major legislation that must be acted on before adjournment, but because of stiff opposition in some quarters, particularly to regulating the cotton exchanges.

Inside skilled labor. $4 per day;

57.1 cents per hour.

Outside common labor. $3.53 per day after a brief illness. Before his law. 50.4 cents an hour.

Designed primarily to curb speculation the bill would set up a commission composed of the secretaries of agriculture and commerce and the attorney-general with broad authority to check speculative holdings and other practices. It also would ban "wash sales," bucket shops and indemnity trading.

Applying in present form to wheat, cotton, rice, corn, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, grain sorghums and mill feeds, the legislation is so drawn that poultry lard or other commodities could be added later.

The rates set in April had been $4.35 and $3.75, respectively, and they retain the four states, which is survived to solve mines in the four states.
